ZEROEYES™

Using the SVPP Grant to Combat Gun Violence on Campus

KEEP K-12 & HIGHER EDUCATION ENVIRONMENTS SAFE

Applications Now Open for $73M from SVPP

New funds released from SVPP (the School Violence Prevention Program) to improve security in and around your K–12 schools via evidence-based school safety programs and technology—including ZeroEyes.

- The earlier you apply, the greater your chances of receiving funds.
- Our grant writers are standing can help you apply.

States are passing measures to deploy campus safety solutions like ZeroEyes—the only A.I. gun detection software that holds the U.S. Department of Homeland Security SAFETY Act Designation.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
DEVELOPMENTAL TESTING AND EVALUATION DESIGNATION
SAFETY ACT
www.safetyact.gov
SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Learn more about funding options. Speak to your state specialist:

ZeroEyes.com

Who can apply for SVPP funds?

Local law enforcement agencies

State law enforcement agencies

Counties, cities, and school districts

Federally recognized Indian tribes and their public agencies

Public government agencies

The Industry's Trusted Provider

Founded by US Navy SEALs, Special Operations Veterans, and elite technologists.

Patented technology and AI lab that received the US Department of Homeland Security SAFETY Act Designation.

Serving schools, municipalities, and other buildings in more than 40 states

How ZeroEyes Works

DETECT
AI-powered brandished gun detections software layered on your existing security cameras.

VERIFY
US-based ZOC is veteran trained, verifying detections 24/7/365 to reduce or eliminate false positives.

ALERT
Confirmed detections are dispatched within 3-5 seconds to client, authorities, and first responders.